

Field Operations

Up and Running

Your goal is to keep your plant running without unscheduled downtime. But equipment breakdowns happen. Oilgear can help you get back to production quickly. Our factory-trained technicians can be dispatched to your location to diagnose and fix the system problem, whether it's hydraulic or control.

Fixing problems when they occur is only half of the solution. Reducing breakdowns and being able to keep maintenance a scheduled event is the other half. Oilgear can create a customized maintenance contract to provide tune-up, preventative maintenance and instrumentation services designed around your requirements. A detailed report will be generated for each visit to keep you informed about the status of the equipment.

Oilgear has been providing service to industry for over 85 years. Give us a call to discuss what we can do for you.

Same quality. Same reliability. Better technology.
